A Purist focused GT, driver involvement & engagement is encouraged with the paddle shift steering wheel to really extend the V12 soundtrack note. It was first shown at the 2003 Frankfurt Auto Show, and was the first model built at Aston Martin's Gaydon facility. The DB9 is, according to Aston's initial press release, a contemporary version of classic DB design elements & characteristics. It retains the traditional Aston Martin grille and side strakes, the design attempts to keep the lines simple & refined. Grey Metallic reminiscent of James Bond, interior; Black leather. Factory options specified including; Sat Nav, front/rear parking sensors, heated front seats, desirable piano black trim, 19" alloy wheels running on superb matching Michelin tyres, Grey brake calipers. Aesthetically, the stance is beautiful. This is superb example. It would be hard to replicate such an example at this price point. A future classic with pedigree & provenance. Covered
